TELADOC HEALTH, INC.,

Nominal Defendant.

Case No. 1:22-cv-7599

VERIFIED STOCKHOLDER
DERIVATIVE COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Trevor Hendry (“Plaintiff”), by and through his undersigned attorneys, brings this derivative complaint for the benefit of nominal defendant, Teladoc Health, Inc. (“Teladoc” or the “Company”), against its Board of Directors (the “Board”) and certain of its executive officers seeking to remedy defendants’ breaches of fiduciary duties and contribution for Violations of Sections 10(b) and 21D of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Exchange Act”). Plaintiff’s allegations are based upon his personal knowledge as to himself and his own acts, and upon information and belief, developed from the investigation and analysis by Plaintiff’s counsel, including a review of publicly available information, including filings by Teladoc with the U.S.

Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), press releases, news reports, analyst reports, investor conference transcripts, publicly available filings in lawsuits, and matters of public record.

I. NATURE AND SUMMARY OF THE ACTION

1. Teladoc offers virtual healthcare services through business-to-business (“B2B”) and direct-to-consumer (“D2C”) distribution channels. Its D2C channel is “most prominently” served through the BetterHelp brand.

2. Between October 2021 and April 2022, the Individual Defendants (as defined below) claimed that it was poised for 25% to 35% revenue growth for fiscal 2022, despite a pause in the employer market and elongated sales cycles.

3. However, on April 27, 2022, after the market closed, Teladoc revealed a shortfall in revenue for first quarter 2022 and lowered its fiscal 2022 guidance. The revision was primarily attributed to BetterHelp’s poor performance, which in turn was caused by increased competition from new entrants. On this news, the Company’s share price fell $22.48, or over 40%, to close at $33.51 per share on April 28, 2022, on unusually heavy trading volume.

4. These revelations precipitated the filing of a securities class action in this District against Teladoc and certain of the defendants named herein, captioned In re Teladoc Health, Inc. Securities Litigation, Case No. 1:22-cv-04687 (the “Securities Class Action”).

5. Plaintiff did not make a litigation demand prior to filing this action because such action would have been futile based upon the composition of the Board and the actions taken by the Board, as alleged herein.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. This Court has jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 in that this Complaint states a federal question: contribution for violations of Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the state law claims asserted herein pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a). This action is not a collusive one to confer jurisdiction on a court of the United States which it would not otherwise have.

7. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 and 1401 because a substantial portion of the transactions and wrongs complained of herein occurred in this District, and the Defendants have received substantial compensation in this district by engaging in numerous activities that had an effect in this District.

III. PARTIES

21. Defendants Gorevic, Murthy, Daniel, Fenwick, Frist, Jacobson, McKinley, Paulus, Shedlarz, Smith, and Snow are sometimes referred to hereinafter as the “Individual Defendants.”

IV. DUTIES OF THE INDIVIDUAL DEFENDANTS

22. By reason of their positions as officers, directors, and/or fiduciaries of Teladoc and because of their ability to control the business and corporate affairs of Teladoc, at all relevant times, the Individual Defendants owed Teladoc and its shareholders fiduciary obligations of good faith, loyalty, and candor, and were required to use their utmost ability to control and manage Teladoc in a fair, just, honest, and equitable manner. The Individual Defendants were required to act in furtherance of the best interests of Teladoc and its shareholders so as to benefit all shareholders equally and not in furtherance of their personal interest or benefit. Each director and officer of the Company owes to Teladoc and its shareholders a fiduciary duty to exercise good faith and diligence in the administration of the affairs of the Company and in the use and preservation of its property and assets, and the highest obligations of fair dealing.

23. The Individual Defendants, because of their positions of control and authority as directors and/or officers of Teladoc, were able to and did, directly and/or indirectly, exercise control over the wrongful acts complained of herein. Because of their advisory, executive, managerial, and directorial positions with Teladoc, each of the Individual Defendants had knowledge of material non-public information regarding the Company.

24. To discharge their duties, the officers and directors of Teladoc were required to exercise reasonable and prudent supervision over the management, policies, practices and controls of the Company. By virtue of such duties, the officers and directors of Teladoc were required to, among other things:

- (a) Exercise good faith to ensure that the affairs of the Company were conducted in an efficient, business-like manner so as to make it possible to provide the highest quality performance of their business;
- (b) Exercise good faith to ensure that the Company was operated in a diligent, honest, and prudent manner and complied with all applicable federal and state laws, rules, regulations and requirements, and all contractual obligations, including acting only within the scope of its legal authority;
- (c) Exercise good faith to ensure that the Company's communications with the public and with shareholders are made with due candor in a timely and complete fashion; and
- (d) When put on notice of problems with the Company's business practices and operations, exercise good faith in taking appropriate action to correct the misconduct and prevent its recurrence.

V. SUBSTANTIVE ALLEGATIONS

A. Background

25. Teladoc offers virtual healthcare services through business-to-business (“B2B”) and direct-to-consumer (“D2C”) distribution channels. Its customers consist of employers (including approximately 50% of the Fortune 500), health plans, hospitals and health systems, insurance and financial services companies. Its D2C channel is “most prominently” served through the BetterHelp brand.

26. Because the Company operates an integrated virtual care system, Teladoc has determined that it operates as a single reportable segment, i.e. health services.

B. The Individual Defendants Cause the Company to Issue Materially Misleading Statements

27. On October 27, 2021, the Company held a conference call in connection with its third quarter 2021 financial results. During the call, defendant Gorevic provided preliminary fiscal 2022 guidance, expecting revenue of $2.6 billion, and downplayed the headwinds affecting Teladoc’s chronic care business. Specifically, he stated, in relevant part:

I want to provide some initial perspective on our expectations for 2022. As you know, it’s not our typical practice to comment on forward outlook at this point in the year. But we believe the additional color is appropriate given our insights at this stage of the selling season and our outlook on consolidated revenue growth for next year. First, we are as confident as ever in our multiple levers for growth in 2022 and beyond. Our unique ability to deliver longitudinal, Whole-person care is a significant competitive advantage. And our leading position in all B2B and DTC channels enables us to fuel continued growth.

Given our insights at this stage of the selling season, our preliminary outlook for consolidated revenue next year is approximately $2.6 billion . . . Chronic care is just one of those levers for growth and is increasingly converging with others However, as we work through the 2022 planning process, we expect to be more conservative about growth expectations for standalone Chronic Care.

Our preliminary outlook assumes standalone Chronic Care revenue will grow approximately 25% to 35%. And we believe strongly that our Chronic Care capabilities will also continue to unlock growth across our integrated suite of products and solutions. Our Whole-person care approach is clearly resonating with clients and consumers as their expectations for virtual healthcare delivery continue to move up the value chain and expand from transactional episodic demand toward integrated longitudinal care

28. Part of this conservatism was purportedly due to a pause in the employer market.

Specifically, defendant Gorevic stated:

[W]e're trying to be very realistic about the sort of on-ramp of those clients in the health plan segment. With respect to the employer market, that's a market where our products are extremely attractive. And historically, we've been very successful at selling into the employer market directly when we sell directly to large employers. That's a market where the benefits managers have, I would say, paused over the course of this year more than we've seen it in the past and it's really due to COVID and them being focused on the pandemic and return to work.

29. During the call, defendant Gorevic acknowledged the slowdown in two other chronic care channels, but claimed it was "positively offset" by Teladoc's growth in other markets, stating in relevant part:

And then there are two channels that I would say are just moving a little more slowly than we had originally anticipated. And again, we want to be conservative in our outlook. The broker channel, we had high expectations and we're just starting to see that pick up now. It took a while to educate the brokers.

We have a large distributed broker network. And it took a little while to educate them on a product set that they really didn't have access to before. We're now starting to see that pick up substantially and we're excited about next year's selling season for that. And then lastly, International. I think the international markets, we have to go through some both regulatory hurdles in terms of local certifications and approvals, but also localizing our products to various international markets. And we're doing that in a fairly methodical approach, market-by-market. So, I think we will see growth internationally, but we don't have, really, anything in our plan for next year on a substantial basis.

And then maybe the last thing I'll say is that's been -- I would say positively offset by our growth in the hospital and health system market where we've, we've noted before that we've seen especially risk-bearing hospitals really lean into the Chronic Care solutions. And that's going better than we had expected. So, when you put all of that together and we take, I would say critical look at the pipeline and our forecast, that's where we landed on that 25% to 35% outlook. Again, that's a contributor to our overall outlook of approximately 2.6 billion in revenue next year.

30. On February 22, 2022, the Individual Defendants caused Teladoc to announce its fourth quarter and full year 2021 financial results in a press release, highlighting its “[f]ull year 2022 Revenue guidance of $2.55 to $2.65 billion, representing 25% to 30% growth.”

31. The same day, Teladoc held a conference call to discuss the financial results with analysts and investors. During the call, defendant Gorevic reiterated that the Company would experience “strong growth,” stating in relevant part:

For [FY 2022], we expect revenue to be in the range of $2.55 billion to $2.65 billion, representing growth of 25% to 30%. Our expectations for strong growth are a result of the broad-based momentum we continue to see across our suite of products and services and across geographies. We have over 90 million total individuals with access to the Teladoc platform today, and we see a significant opportunity for long-term growth by expanding our relationships and going deeper with our existing clients and members as we execute against our key strategic priorities across primary care, mental health and chronic care solutions.

32. During the same call, defendant Murthy affirmed the guidance in the press release:

For [FY] 2022, we expect revenue to be in the range of $2.55 billion to $2.65 billion, representing growth of 25% to 30% over the prior year. We expect total membership of 54 million to 56 million members, representing growth of 1% to 5% year-over-year, with the remainder of revenue growth driven by expanding revenue per member driven both by increased product penetration and product mix.

We expect adjusted EBITDA in 2022 to be in the range of $330 million to $355 million, representing a 12.9% to 13.4% adjusted EBITDA margin and an expansion of approximately 90 to 140 basis points over 2021 after normalizing for last year’s purchase price accounting benefit. We expect total visits in 2022 to be between 18.5 million and 20 million visits, representing growth of 20% to 30% over the prior year.

33. During the same call, defendant Murthy provided additional color for the fiscal 2022 expectations:

On the revenue side, we expect the timing of new chronic care client onboarding to be more heavily weighted towards the second half of this year. This includes the launch of large new health plan clients signed over the past several months . . . which are scheduled to onboard in the second half of this year. We, therefore, expect to see strong sequential growth in revenue over the course of the year. Specific to the second quarter, we expect an approximate $40 million to $50 million step-up in revenue from 1Q to 2Q.

On the expense side, we normally see higher engagement marketing spend in the first half of the year as we prepare to onboard new clients and members. It's also typical for us to see higher advertising spend early in the year as we take advantage of lower media pricing in the market following the conclusion of the more expensive holiday season. We expect that to be the case again this year, as we have seen a more advantageous media buying landscape early this year, which has resulted in a slightly lower customer acquisition cost.

This will impact the quarterly cadence of adjusted EBITDA, and we expect will result in a significant margin expansion progression over the course of 2022, particularly in the second half due to our expected revenue and enrollment ramp for the chronic care programs launching later this year as well as the typical seasonality of advertising spend over the course of the year.

34. Management purportedly had visibility into fiscal 2022 results because the guidance was based on "contracts that have been signed" and was "not dependent on significant new sales." Specifically, defendant Murthy stated, in relevant part:

It's important to note that the revenue and EBITDA ramp described is not dependent on significant new sales. The deals mentioned are contracts that have been signed over the past several months, but are disproportionately scheduled to onboard in the second half [of 2022]. And we, therefore, have good visibility into the second half revenue and EBITDA progression.

35. On February 28, 2022, the Individual Defendants signed and caused Teladoc to file its annual report on Form 10-K for the period ended December 31, 2021 (the "2021 10-K"), affirming the previously reported financial results. It also represented that BetterHelp would "continue driving growth" for the Company, stating in relevant part:

We plan to continue driving growth through investments in our D2C channels BetterHelp is the leader in the D2C therapy market, both in terms of the number of individuals enrolled and the number of providers who provide services on the platform. The scale of our data and provider network, powered by our data science capabilities, creates a competitive advantage for us in providing an optimal match of an individual with a provider, increasing the rate of success in therapy. We leverage diverse customer acquisition channels and increased organic sources of traffic, which reduces dependence on any single source of member acquisition. Even with our strong historical growth, we believe there is substantial untapped growth potential, both domestically and internationally, as almost half of BetterHelp members have never sought therapy before.

36. The above statements in ¶¶ 27-35 were materially misleading because they failed to disclose: (1) that Teladoc's BetterHelp business was disproportionately impacted by increased competition; (2) that, as a result, the Company was experiencing slowing growth; and (3) that, as a result of the foregoing, Teladoc was reasonably likely to recognize a significant non-cash goodwill impairment charge.

C. The Truth Fully Emerges

37. On April 27, 2022, after the market closed, Teladoc announced its first quarter 2022 financial results in a press release, including revenue of $565.4 million and net loss per share of $41.58, which was "primarily driven by [a] non-cash goodwill impairment charge of $6.6 billion or $41.11 per share." The Company also lowered its fiscal 2022 revenue guidance to $2.4 - $2.5 billion and adjusted EBITDA guidance to $240 - $265 million "to reflect dynamics we are currently experiencing in the [D2C] mental health and chronic condition markets." According to defendant Gorevic, "[i]n the chronic condition market, we are seeing an elongated sales cycle as employers and health plans evaluate their long-term strategies to deliver the benefits and care that their populations need."

38. During a conference call held the same day, defendant Gorevic attributed the shortfall and reduced expectations to BetterHelp's poor performance:

Over the past several weeks, we've seen lower-than-expected yield on marketing spend for BetterHelp, which is a reversal of the trends we experienced exiting 2021 and in the early part of 2022. One example of this is paid search advertising, where we've seen a notable increase in rates for keywords associated with online therapy. We believe the biggest driver of this dynamic is smaller private competitors pursuing what we think are low- or no-return customer acquisition strategies in an attempt to establish market share.

Some of those same providers are also exploiting the temporary suspension of certain regulations associated with the national health emergency concerning the prescription of controlled substances. We believe these strategies are unsustainable in the long-term. This dynamic is likely to persist at least throughout the remainder of this year, however, resulting in growth and margin contribution from BetterHelp that is below our expectation in February.

[G]iven the persistency of these trends over the past several weeks and the broader economic backdrop, we've incorporated this updated view into our forward outlook, including an assumed 10% lower revenue yield per dollar of ad spend for the full year.

39. BetterHelp's underperformance was the primary reason for Teladoc's revised guidance. Specifically, Defendant Gorevic stated:

When comparing the impact to guidance from the items we've just discussed, approximately three quarters of the reduction to our 2022 revenue outlook is driven by lower expected growth at BetterHelp with the remainder primarily attributed to the lower expected revenue from our suite of chronic care products.

For adjusted EBITDA, approximately two thirds of the reduction is driven by lower yield on advertising spend from BetterHelp. The remainder of the revision is driven primarily by our lower chronic care revenue outlook as well as a modest increase in our assumption for wage growth due to higher inflation as we grow our headcount in technology and development.

As a result of these updates, we now expect revenue of $2.4 billion to $2.5 billion and adjusted EBITDA of $240 million to $265 million for fiscal year 2022 We are not providing today any guidance with respect to periods after 2022, and we're evaluating whether there will be effects to our long-term revenue growth outlook.

40. Defendant Gorevic also stated that bookings slowed as Teladoc faced competition from new entrants:

[W]e're also seeing our chronic care sales pipeline developed more slowly than anticipated. Last October, we discussed two trends in the marketplace that we saw leading to an elongated selling cycle. The first was in the employer market, where we saw benefit managers focused on COVID and return to work, which we felt was contributing to a longer decision-making process. The second was a large pipeline of health plan deals that were simply harder to predict when it comes to timing given the size and complexity of those clients.

At the beginning of this year, we were encouraged by very strong fourth quarter bookings and a robust late-stage pipeline. However, as we progressed through the first part of the year, we're seeing clear signs of the slower bookings pace continuing.

In addition to the factors we discussed last fall, we're seeing clients inundated with a number of new smaller point solutions, which has created noise in the marketplace [W]e are in the process of taking a closer look at some of these forces that are impacting the near-term conversion of pipeline to revenue, and we'll continue to make adjustments as necessary to address them.

. . . [W]e're not seeing deals progress at the pace that we expected.

41. On this news, the Company's share price fell $22.48, or over 40%, to close at $33.51 per share on April 28, 2022, on unusually heavy trading volume.

VI. DAMAGES TO THE COMPANY

42. As a direct and proximate result of the Individual Defendants' conduct, Teladoc has been seriously harmed and will continue to be. Such harm includes, but is not limited to:

- a) Any funds paid to settle the Securities Class Action; and
- b) Costs incurred from compensation and benefits paid to the defendants who have breached their duties to Teladoc.

43. In addition, Teladoc's business, goodwill, and reputation with its business partners, regulators, and shareholders have been gravely impaired. The Company still has not fully admitted the nature of its false statements and the true condition of its business. The credibility and motives of management are now in serious doubt.

44. The actions complained of herein have irreparably damaged Teladoc's corporate image and goodwill. For at least the foreseeable future, Teladoc will suffer from what is known as the "liar's discount," a term applied to the stocks of companies who have been implicated in illegal behavior and have misled the investing public, such that Teladoc's ability to raise equity capital or debt on favorable terms in the future is now impaired.

VII. DERIVATIVE AND DEMAND FUTILITY ALLEGATIONS

45. Plaintiff brings this action derivatively in the right and for the benefit of Teladoc to redress injuries suffered, and to be suffered, by Teladoc as a direct result of the wrongdoing alleged herein. Teladoc is named as a nominal defendant solely in a derivative capacity. This is not a collusive action to confer jurisdiction on this Court that it would not otherwise have.

46. Plaintiff will adequately and fairly represent the interests of Teladoc in enforcing and prosecuting its rights.

47. Plaintiff has continuously been a shareholder of Teladoc at times relevant to the wrongdoing complained of and is a current Teladoc shareholder.

48. When this action was filed, Teladoc's Board of Directors consisted of defendants Gorevic, Daniel, Fenwick, Frist, Jacobson, McKinley, Paulus, Shedlarz, Smith, and Snow. Plaintiff did not make any demand on the Board to institute this action because such a demand would be a futile, wasteful, and useless act, as set forth below.

49. Gorevic is the Company's CEO and therefore is not independent under NYSE listing rules. As an employee, Gorevic derives substantially all of his income from his employment with Teladoc, thus could not disinterestedly consider a demand for action that might require him to sue the directors that control his continued employment and/or his fellow members of management with whom he works on a day-to-day basis. He is also named as a defendant in the Securities Class Action. As a result, demand is futile as to him.

50. Daniel, Jacobson, and Shedlarz also served as members of the Audit Committee at relevant times. As such they are responsible for the integrity of Teladoc's disclosures. In their capacities as Audit Committee members, Daniel, Jacobson, and Shedlarz reviewed and approved the materially misleading statements and allowed them to be disseminated in Teladoc's SEC filings and other disclosures. Thus, Daniel, Jacobson, and Shedlarz breached their fiduciary duties and are not disinterested, and demand is excused as to them.

51. The entire Board is charged with overseeing the Company's affairs, including the BetterHelp and chronic care businesses, which are Teladoc's core business. In this respect, the entire Board knew or should have known of the material facts concerning these businesses, including the headwinds affecting these segments, as well as the accuracy of the Company's public reporting. In their capacities as directors, Gorevic, Daniel, Fenwick, Frist, Jacobson, McKinley, Paulus, Shedlarz, Smith, and Snow issued materially misleading statements, including the 2021 10-K, and face a substantial likelihood of liability.

COUNT I

Against the Individual Defendants for Breach of Fiduciary Duty

52. Plaintiff incorporates by reference and realleges each and every allegation contained above, as though fully set forth herein.

53. The Individual Defendants each owes and owed to the Company the duty to exercise candor, good faith, and loyalty in the management and administration of Teladoc's business and affairs, particularly with respect to issues as fundamental as public disclosures.

54. The conduct by the Individual Defendants set forth herein was due to their intentional or reckless breach of the fiduciary duties they owed to the Company. The Individual Defendants intentionally or recklessly breached or disregarded their fiduciary duties to protect the rights and interests of Teladoc.

55. In breach of their fiduciary duties owed to Teladoc, the Individual Defendants willfully participated in and caused the Company to expend unnecessarily its corporate funds, rendering them personally liable to the Company for breaching their fiduciary duties.

56. In particular, the Individual Defendants knowingly or recklessly made untrue statements and/or permitted the Company's public filings, disclosures, and statements to misleadingly report Company's overall prospects.

57. As a direct and proximate result of the breaches of their fiduciary obligations by the Individual Defendants, Teladoc has sustained and continues to sustain significant damages, including direct monetary damages, exposure to liability from securities litigation and a loss of goodwill in the capital markets. As a result of the misconduct alleged herein, defendants are liable to the Company.

COUNT II

(Against Defendants Gorevic and Murthy for Contribution For Violations of Sections 10(b) and 21D of the Exchange Act)

58. Plaintiff incorporates by reference and realleges each and every allegation contained above, as though fully set forth herein.

59. The conduct of Defendants Gorevic and Murthy, as described herein, has exposed the Company to significant liability under various federal and state securities laws by their disloyal acts.

60. Teladoc is named as a defendant in related securities fraud lawsuit that allege and assert claims arising under § 10(b) of the Exchange Act. The Company is alleged to be liable to private persons, entities and/or classes by virtue of many of the same facts alleged herein. If Teladoc is found liable for violating the federal securities laws, the Company's liability will arise in whole or in part from the intentional, knowing, or reckless acts or omissions of all or some of the Defendants as alleged herein, who have caused the Company to suffer substantial harm through their disloyal acts. The Company is entitled to contribution and indemnification from these Defendants in connection with all claims that have been, are, or may be asserted against the Company by virtue of their wrongdoing.

61. As officers, directors and otherwise, Defendants Gorevic and Murthy had the power or ability to, and did, control or influence, either directly or indirectly, Teladoc's general affairs, including the content of its public statements, and had the power or ability to directly or indirectly control or influence the specific corporate statements and conduct that violated § 10(b) of the Exchange Act and SEC Rule 10b-5.

62. Defendants Gorevic and Murthy are liable under § 21D of the Exchange Act, which governs the application of any private right of action for contribution asserted pursuant to the Exchange Act.

63. Defendants Gorevic and Murthy have damaged the Company and are liable to the Company for contribution.

64. No adequate remedy at law exists for Plaintiff by and on behalf of the Company.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, plaintiff, on behalf of Teladoc, demands judgment as follows:

A. Declaring that plaintiff may maintain this action on behalf of Teladoc and that plaintiff is an adequate representative of the Company;

B. Against all of the defendants and in favor of the Company for the amount of damages sustained by the Company as a result of the defendants' breaches of fiduciary duties;

C. Declaring that Defendants have breached their fiduciary duties to Teladoc;

D. Directing Teladoc to take all necessary actions to reform and improve its corporate governance and internal procedures to comply with applicable laws and to protect Teladoc and its stockholders from a repeat of the damaging events described herein, including, but not limited to, putting forward for stockholder vote, resolutions for amendments to the Company's Bylaws or Articles of Incorporation and taking such other action as may be necessary to place before stockholders for a vote of the following corporate governance policies:

1. a proposal to strengthen the Company's controls over financial reporting;

2. a proposal to strengthen the Board's supervision of operations and develop and implement procedures for greater stockholder input into the policies and guidelines of the Board;

3. a proposal to strengthen Teladoc's oversight of its disclosure procedures; and

4. a provision to permit the stockholders of Teladoc to nominate at least three candidates for election to the Board;

E. Extraordinary equitable and/or injunctive relief as permitted by law, equity, and state statutory provisions sued hereunder, including attaching, impounding, imposing a constructive trust on, or otherwise restricting the proceeds of defendants' trading activities or their other assets so as to assure that plaintiff on behalf of Teladoc has an effective remedy;

F. Awarding to Teladoc restitution from defendants, and each of them, and ordering disgorgement of all profits, benefits, and other compensation obtained by the defendants;

G. Awarding to plaintiff the costs and disbursements of the action, including reasonable attorneys' fees, accountants' and experts' fees, costs, and expenses; and

H. Granting such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

JURY DEMAND

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 38(b), plaintiff demands a trial by jury.
